Apply for the Erasmus Mundus Joint Master Degree in European Politics and Society (EPS)

A unique study programme offers courses at four major European Universities for those who are interested in Europe in the world.

Co-founded by the Erasmus+ Programme of the European Union

There are approximately 22 Erasmus Mundus Joint Master Degree Scholarships each year covering the whole 100 % of the tuition fee and offering to students extra 1 000 EUR per months as living allowances.

What do we offer?

Charles University together with its international academic partners is offering a unique new two-year international joint-master in European Politics and Society (EPS) in which you can study at four major European research universities in four beautiful cities: Prague, Leiden, Krakow and Barcelona.

This programme is linking the fields of European politics, contemporary history and culture, economics, international relations and policymaking. The key role of the programme is to identify and analyse the key challenges Europe faces today (migration, security, populism, (Br)exits), and prepare the next generation of managers, policymakers and research leaders to deal with them.

Application

The deadline for academic year 2018/19 is 28th February 2018. The admission procedure is done through the online application accessible from the webpage of the EPS programme eps.fsv.cuni.cz. You can send inquiry about the EPS programme to the following e-mail address: eps@fsv.cuni.cz.

Extra-curricular training and link to the work field

Two important features of this exclusive programme are an intensive extra-curricular training programme and a direct link to the future work field through frequent interaction with professionals and experts from outside academia through the Associate Partners of the programme. These partners include businesses such as Samsung and international organisations such as TEPSA, UNESCO and Forum 2000.

Joint events

All students spent their first semester in Prague, where they participate in the Prague Introductory week. At the end of the first semester, they choose the topic of the Master thesis and write a draft proposal for the thesis project, which they will present at a three-day Research Seminar in Barcelona.

For the second semester students have two options, go to Leiden or Krakow. The two final semesters can be spent at any of the four universities depending on the specialisation. In the third semester all students will also travel to Brussels, for the Brussels field trip, a 3-day event to meet experts from EU institutions

After the third semester all students will again participate in the Barcelona Research Seminar where they will get feedback on your thesis project from all other students and academic experts. The final semester is devoted to finalising the Master thesis, but all students will also participate in the Oxford Spring School.

Tuition fee

Tuition fee is 8 000 EUR per year. This programme got the Erasmus Mundus funding. There are approximately 22 Erasmus Mundus Joint Master Degree Scholarships each year covering the whole 100 % of the tuition fee and offering to students extra 1 000 EUR per months as living allowances.

Excellence Scholarship Award: Excellence Scholarship Award: Best self-funded students from the first year per each intake might be awarded the 'Excellence Scholarship Award' (covers 50 % of the Tuition Fee for the second year of their study).
