

BIOGRAPHY

MICHELE SENICI

Michele Senici is Still I Rise's Education Director.

Holding a degree in Education and Training Sciences from the Catholic University of Brescia, he has ten years experience in community-building, training and non-formal education projects.

He is specialised in theatre education, focused on educational planning for preadolescence, adolescence and person-centred teaching. Over the years, he has created theatre workshops, educational programs for free time and academic support, as well as training projects on active citizenship and helping at-risk youth. He has also led training events for educators, community empowerment, and outreach education.

At Still I Rise, he is in charge of curriculum development, teacher coordination and educational training. He also works to define, develop and implement educational projects in emergency contexts as well as to build long-term opportunities.
