

Gadi Porat, Partner, Head of JVP Cyber Labs, JVP

Gadi has over 20 years of experience in the Hi-Tech industry, in software delivery and management positions, delivering software and products to global markets. In addition, he has hands-on experience with software sales and delivery life cycle including working with many Fortune 500 companies. He has lead an innovation center from prototyping new concepts and technologies, M&A, warrants agreements, and mentoring startups. In his past positions, Gadi has led Israel's AT&T Foundry, the American multinational conglomerate's accelerator which identifies the next generation of leading companies in the fields of communications and media. He was one of the leaders of live communications company; Interwise, acquired by AT&T in late 2007. Gadi has an Executive MBA from Bar-Ilan University, Israel and a BA in Economics (Major in Business Administration) from Ruppin College, Israel.