

Sue Griffey, DrPH, BSN, has been SueMentors for more than a decade, providing actionable advice to get professionals to their next career path step. Her hallmark is using real-world examples to demonstrate her practical advice for building and using professional presence (both in person and digital) with evidence-based results and achievements. Sue has mentored for 9 different global public health and general mentoring programs. She has worked with more than 500 mentees individually and directly influenced more than 2000 through her short course, guides, materials, videos, webinars, and workshops. She had a 3-decade of career in global health and program evaluation, working and living globally in more than 25 countries.