

Sauro Mocetti, director and head of the Law and Economics Division, at the Economics, Statistics and Research Department of the Bank of Italy. I graduated from University of Siena in 2002, got a Master of Sciences (MSc) in Economics from Universitat Pompeu Fabra in 2004 and a PhD in Economics from University of Bologna in 2006; I was a visiting scholar at the University of California, Berkeley, in 2010 and 2012-2013. I am an applied economist mainly interested in public economics, urban economics, law and economics and the role of institutions. My research has been published in top journals as American Economic Review, Economic Policy, Journal of Human Resources, Journal of Law, Economics and Organization, Journal of Public Economics, Journal of Urban Economics, Review of Economic Studies and Review of Financial Studies. More information about me here: <https://sites.google.com/view/sauromocetti>