

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION AND ECONOMICS

BRIEF WEB SITE GUIDE

To access to the web site click here.

The Academic Calendar (click here) presents lectures, exam sessions and graduation sessions.

The Academic year is divided into two semesters. Each semester is divided into two modules at the end of which there is one week break (where it would be possible to do pre-exams and mid-terms, depending on the Professor's choices).

Exam sessions are three: winter, summer and autumn session.

ON THE A.Y. 2019/2020, LECTURES WILL START ON SEPTEMBER 16th, 2019

MATHEMATICS PRE-COURSES WILL START ON SEPTEMBER 5th, 2019: they will be open to all the interested students.

The course structure (click here) shows the list of exams each student must sustain during his 3-years academic career.

First year students (enrolled in a.y. 2019/20) must refer to their own course structure, the one of a.y. 2019-2020; for example, those who will belong to the second year (enrolled in the a.y. 2018-2019), must refer to the course structure of a.y. 2018/2019 and so on.

In order to have efficient lectures, some courses will be taught in one channel or in two channels (depending on the number of students and divided according to the surname).

To check the division for each course and the relative Professors you need to access to the webpage of the Courses of the a.y. 2019/20 (click here)

For example: Fundamentals of Business Administration is a first-year exam and usually it is divided in two channels: I Canale and II Canale.

Clicking on "Canale" you will access to the webpage of the course, where you can check:

- the program (the syllabus and all the relevant information)
- the timetable of the course lecture
- the exam dates available for each session (always to be checked and defined) and the relative periods in which you can register for the exam on Delphi
- the teaching materials provided by the Professor
- the exam rules and all the relative information about the course, if added by the Professor.

Students are strongly invited to add the courses they are interested in through the "My Courses" option, in order to:

- join the Professor mailing list, to be instantly updated by email about course activities and urgent communications directly by the Professor
- take advantage of the other personalized services that will be available on the student portal. For example, if you have added at least one course you can access your customized timetable!

For the social project #diconodibae, we are waiting for you in our office whenever you want!

We will ask you two simple thing:

- 1. A quote that you best associate to our course*
- 2. A song that reminds you about BAE.*

Your quotes and songs will be posted on our Facebook and Twitter Page with the hashtag #diconodibae! 😊

Furthermore, in order to be constantly updated about our activities, news and events you can always check on the homepage of our website, or, even better, you can receive notifications for the posts we publish on our social network pages.
