IBS summer program in Luxury Strategy or How to become a Parisian Luxury leader

Program objectives – Feel like a Parisian and think like a Luxury leader

INSEEC Business School opens its doors to you during the summer 2018 and welcomes you to start this journey with a short introduction to French culture and language. Since we are in Paris, we will take advantage of it and try to make it proactive for you by taking you outside and organizing unmemorable adventure of living a day like a Parisian. With the introduction to some of the short sentences that you can use during your stay in Paris, by taking you to see a show "How to become a Parisian in one hour", we will definitely help you achieve the first objective of a course: feel like a real Parisian during your stay at IBS Paris.

Our summer program in Luxury Strategy covers the main components of a luxury business strategy and presents luxury business models underlining their approach to the market in order to defend the leadership position. With IBS professors practice entrepreneurship and the 4E's of a leadership model while working in groups and developing fashion marketing campaigns. Based on the marketing opportunities, your choices should lead into the formulation of the best luxury strategy. In order to get you inspired, we will see how some of the leaders in the market do it. Our company visits include some of the most important brand names, like Hermès, where we were embraced in its oldest store, during the morning opening. While taking these small steps and achieving the familiarity with the managerial practices on the spot, we hope to motivate you to start thinking as a luxury leader, specially with our guest speakers, who will also raise your curiosity by presenting you their experiences and get you involved in a constructive discussion regarding the managerial practices.

During this program you will get an opportunity to visit a castle Vaux-le-Vicomte, with a nice candle-light dinner, enjoying a story of a past time and a historical development of the French fashion.

IBS summer program in Luxury Branding or How to become a Parisian Fashionista

Program objectives – Walk like a Parisian and feel (like) a Fashionista

No matter if you are continuing your journey as a Parisian Luxury leader or you have just landed, you are at the right place when it comes to brands – especially luxury brands – PARIS! This special walk starts at the Galeries Lafayette Haussmann, the strongest brand for a department store in the world for more than 100 years. A guided tour will take us back in the 19th Century and the luxury bazaar– the place of the best merchandise in all of Paris. Empowered by this stroll in time, so easily continue walking like Parisians do through avenue Montaigne and the Golden Triangle. Our summer program in Luxury Branding puts emphasis on the iconic French brands, highlighting differences between luxury and mass fashion; Haute-Couture and Ready-to-Wear. Learn the main dimensions that compose the relationship within the luxury environment and master a new model of marketing that rules the Luxury Brands. Our group-work and tasks would stimulate you to create a memorable experience that is crucial to re-inforce loyalty, by understanding the consumer behavior and high demands of a luxury brand. In order to get engaged in a new luxury attitude, we will take you to visit some of the most prestigious companies. We visit the head offices of LVHM, where we will be welcomed in the historical house of Louis Vuitton and given a complete overview of a brand development. By seeing how the actual product is made, we can deeply recognize the timeless value of a luxury peace. Some of our guest speakers come from the same house, like Christian Dior, while others are from their competition like Chanel. Regardless of your choice, whether you really feel like a Fashionista, it is our objective that you end up understanding, feeling a Fashionista in order to be able to shape a brand to its needs. This program includes a visit to the Foundation Louis Vuitton and its exhibition. At the end, every Parisian Fashionista needs to eat, so relax and simply enjoy a Brunch Haute Couture.
