Leonardo Emberti Gialloreti, MD, PhD

Degree in Medicine; Specialization in "Public Health Medicine"; PhD in "Epidemiology and Microbiology". Associate Professor and Lecturer of "Epidemiology", "Research Methodology", "Medical Statistics", "General and applied Hygiene" at Tor Vergata University, Rome, Italy.

Scientific activity: 1) Epidemiological surveillance systems and Health Monitoring. 2) Standardization and validation of instruments for the evaluation and rehabilitation of neurodevelopment. 3) Neuro-imaging. 4) Varicella-Zoster Virus. 5) HIV/AIDS in resource-limited settings 6) HPV 7) Epidemiology and genetics. 8) Cost-effectiveness of vaccine programs. 9) Public Health Programs in resource limited and war-torn countries.