

Clara is a PhD student working on transformations towards just and sustainable futures. Her research seeks to experiment with how desirable futures are enacted and embodied in hopeful transformative efforts, and what conceptual frameworks and practical tools can be co-created to support deep and deliberate change process, in collaboration with various social movements, NGOs, and civil society organisations. She holds a B.A. in Global Governance from Tor Vergata University of Rome and a M.Sc. in Sustainability Science from Lund University, and she has previously worked for the Climate Land Ambition and Rights Alliance and as Education Lead in Faculty for a Future.