

3rd Tor Vergata PhD Conference in Economics

Call for Papers

November 19-20, 2026

University of Rome Tor Vergata, Rome, Italy

We are pleased to invite submissions to the 3rd PhD Conference in Economics at the University of Rome Tor Vergata. This two-day event offers a stimulating and collegial environment for PhD students and recent graduates to present their research, exchange ideas, and network with peers and faculty across a wide range of fields in economics.

We welcome submissions from all areas of economics, both theoretical and applied. Participants will have the opportunity to present their work and receive constructive feedback from an experienced discussant, chosen from a pool of faculty members and senior PhD candidates.

The agenda includes a keynote speech on “AI and Competition in Agentic Markets” by professor Giacomo Calzolari (European University Institute) and a social dinner on the first day. Lunch and coffee breaks will be provided throughout the conference. There is no participation fee. Participants are expected to cover their own travel and accommodation costs.

Important Dates

- Submission by the 15th of September, 2026
- Acceptance notification (on a rolling basis) by the 20th of September, 2026

To submit your paper, please send an email to phd.conference@def.uniroma2.it with the subject line “PhD Conference TV 2026 - Submission”. In the email, include your full name, affiliation, and attach a PDF of your paper or an extended abstract (max. 400 words).

For any inquiries, please contact us at phd.conference@def.uniroma2.it. We look forward to receiving your applications and welcoming you to Rome.

Organizing Committee

Stylianos Daskalinas

Enzo Guidoni Pozza

Tommaso Mazzotta

This Conference is funded by the MUR Excellence Grant of the Department of Economics and Finance.